

College seeks to aid Haiti

Saddened by the story about the collapse of a school in Haiti and the death of nursing students who were inside, officials from the nursing school at American International College in Springfield are proposing to work with a Longmeadow church to rebuild and partner with the school. The educators contacted the First Church of Christ in Longmeadow to say they would like to help in rebuilding and participate in student and faculty exchanges. Full story Page C1

